Resources

- <https://github.com/matze/mtheme> – Official GitHub Repo of Metropolis (formerly mtheme); older version in TeXLive
- <https://github.com/eddelbuettel/pkg-latex-metropolis> – My local GitHub Repo for an Ubuntu package of Metropolis (formerly mtheme)
- <https://github.com/eddelbuettel/pkg-fonts-fira> – My local GitHub Repo for an Ubuntu package] for the Fira font

Ubuntu and Launchpad

- The packages which can be built (ie not Fira as it needs external fonts which we cannot download during build) are in this repo:
<https://launchpad.net/~edd/+archive/ubuntu/misc/+packages>
- If you're not on Ubuntu, it is probably more work to get
 - Metropolis into your \LaTeX environment
 - the Fira font into your \LaTeX environment
- I did try without (on plain Ubuntu 16.04) and it builds but looks less crisp
- So for the time being you probably want these fresh from source, or via my helpers. YMMV.

Local Adaption

- mtheme and metropolis changed a bit since I first used
- I started with a local modification I called m2; the package is still in the launchpad repo
- I generally include a file header.tex from the YAML for color, font, ... tweaking at the \LaTeX level, but as these are presentation-specific I didn't include any changes here.
